

Why DOGPAW?

Neither Clark County nor its Cities can pay for development of off-leash areas without help. Through DOGPAW, dog owners ensure development of spaces for their use.

As a non-profit organization, DOGPAW can partner with Vancouver-Clark Parks and Recreation, Washougal Parks and Recreation, Clark County Public Works and others, like Bonneville Power Administration, to secure and develop land for off-leash areas.

Why Are Dog Parks Important?

Bored, inactive dogs find ways to get into trouble. Well exercised dogs make better neighbors when they are able to get out and run and play regularly and burn off some of their energy. The parks are social outlets for dogs and their humans as well, and help us all connect and have a little badly needed play time!

In the long run, off-leash dog parks make a community safer, stronger and more pet friendly, and help people keep their pets happier and healthier; and sometimes even means they can keep them when otherwise they might be given up due to boredom related destructive behavior at home.

Come join us, and bring a friend!

Did You Know?

All Clark County official off-leash areas are completely built, managed, and maintained by volunteers, sponsors, and partners of DOGPAW, which is staffed entirely by dedicated volunteers.

Membership and Donations!

Become a member of DOGPAW and help mold and shape your off-leash dog parks! Membership is open to any resident of Clark County or neighboring communities.

Your tax-deductible donations, both membership fees and those above & beyond, go into off-leash! Donations support all maintenance of existing parks and development of new parks, including waste management, mowing, and purchase and installation of building materials and fences. Please consider a donation today, and we’ll provide you with a receipt for tax purposes!

A CAUTION about Dogs and CHILDREN

A screaming, running or unattended child may become a natural target for dogs. Even a playful dog can knock over or inadvertently run over a child and cause serious physical or emotional trauma.
